April 7. 1841.

Dear Friend.

I find on our center-table a beautiful copy of the book of which you spoke
all dissected and autographed in your Model penmanship, and have no doubt it was received with becoming gratitude.

We have been a thousand times in a thousand ways, your debtors. I trust here & hereafter, we shall ever rejoice in having been permitted to enjoy your friendship, and hear

our humble part in the grand enterprise
to which your life is consecrated. The crowning excellence
of the nineteenth century the most heroic, and of course, ^{to be} most historic achievement
of our age & generation.

With kindest regards to your family, I subscribe Very hastily, but ever truly yours, Parker Pillsbury.

P.S.

I have proposed
a meeting next Sunday at Danvers, (South,) and have written to ask M.
Hillie if he will join me, should my proposal be acceptable to the people there. We shall know before Wednesday in time to advertise.

P. P.
